The Dialogue

I attended lectures yesterday.

I want to go swimming today.

I've got an exam tomorrow.

The last time I went with an old friend.

I'm too busy lately.

*I really miss him
And our conversations.*

All I want to do is talk to some friends
Without thinking about all of this.

Of course, it's nice to talk to you as well.

I think I'll have pizza today.

I Perspective

I don't see me but you I see but if I do really see you
I do not know.

'Cause if I see you
I see just me
and 'cause I do not see me,
I don't see you.

What I see instead
I do not know.
Just what I don't see,
that I know.
And why not?

TMI

Window

I look out of the window:

1 tree, green leaves, partly brown-yellowish and red, aspen

3 children climbing rusted monkey bars.

noise

1 bicyclist, black bicycle.

the house across the street, a slab-construction building in need of renovation

brown paint, peeling off polka-dotted curtains, violet on white.

an old man wearing a cap, who shuffles along the street

a bird (a great tit, probably) on one of the branches.
